25X1X 1. As of November 1950, there were no Soviet troops to be seen inside Targoviste although [REDACTED] during the summer and as late as October 1950, large numbers of Soviet troops were seen in the region where she lived.

25X1X 2. [REDACTED] these troops were enroute to the Banat and Transylvania areas.

3. In Targoviste, the Arsenal Factory, which has 3,000 workers, is currently working on the production of weapons and ammunition (type unknown) and on the repair of tanks. There is much building activity going on at Arsenal and the current expansion includes a school for training 150 former Greek guerrilla fighters.

4. Reportedly, about one thousand oil derricks are to be seen on the eastern environs of Targoviste between Moreni and Ochiuri. About fifty derricks are located in the center of the Ialomita River. The guards are Rumanian soldiers; Sovrompetrol owns these oil derricks. The oil produced here is transported by railroad tank cars, with about five hundred of the latter leaving daily toward Constanta. Before shipment, however, an unknown proportion of the oil is processed at a large refinery. Some of the oil is shipped directly as crude oil.

5. There are oil storage tanks located at the village Petrosita, about two hours distance from the Targoviste station. These tanks are located on a hillside and in the midst of a forest. About thirty storage tanks are also located near the Targoviste station.
